MUST-HAVE WISHES

Who has never fantasised about having a wish or perhaps several wishes fulfilled? Some only play with the thought, while others focus consciously on it. Either way, we all love to daydream. If you already know what you want, why not write up a wish list? After all, they say all your wishes come true during Christmas.

This year's beautiful designer pieces will surely be at the top of fashionistas' lists. The season's trends feature delicious materials, patterns, styles and colours.

One can never have enough shoes, especially boots in the winter. Comfortable chunky-heeled booties are on-trend this season, combining both style and comfort. Footwear with embroidered flower patterns are the absolute favourite and guarantee that you will make a stylish entrance no matter the occasion.

Christmas is not complete without a bit of sparkle and dazzle. Designers know this perfectly well and have once again created warm and most importantly, stylish velvet pieces. A marine blue shiny velvet blouse with a dainty string at the collar or the very trendy statement ruffled sleeve is the perfect choice for a Christmas party.

Last but not least, stylish protection against the cold is also essential — a faux-fur peacoat ticks both boxes. This season also features exciting colours such as iris and blue lily. A coat of this colour pairs perfectly with a body-hugging knitted turtleneck dress and a few minimalist accessories — not to mention the pop of colour this injects into a murky grey winter afternoon.

WINTER DREAMING

Advent is a time of joyful preparation. Streets are dressed up in dazzling lights, shopping malls are busy with holiday festivities and the excited hunt for the perfect presents has started. To fully experience the magic of Christmas, we must become attuned to the spirit of this holiday with all of our senses. Take a break, offer yourself the experience of peaceful relaxation.

There are no rules for cosying up at home, some tricks that can help us unwind even more. Whether in our wardrobe or our home furnishing, cold winter days call for knitted pieces. Adorable tasselled socks, an oversized soft blanket or a thick wool sweater warm exude an aura of warmth just by looking at them, not to mention when we put them on.

But a truly special Christmas atmosphere in our home calls for some redolence smells. Essential oils and aromatherapy candles scented with cinnamon, orange, clove, vanilla and pine instantly take us back to the magical Christmas moments of our childhood. Their relaxing and meditative effect soothes both body and soul.

Once everything is almost ready for a gratifying afternoon of relaxation, all that is missing is a hot drink and a sweet snack for snuggling up indoors on a cold winter's day. Of course bonbons and cakes should be consumed in moderation before Christmas at least, but on your day off, why not treat yourself to some sweet goodness?

FOR HER PERSONALLY

Choosing the perfect gift is not an easy task, especially if the person you want to surprise is your beloved one. The boxes we put under the Christmas tree represent many things. For most women, the colourfully wrapped presents symbolise the love, care and attention we have for them. For this very reason, choosing the perfect present is a great challenge.

If you really want to please her, the traditional and typical gifts will just not do; you must choose something personal that suits her and will make her feel appreciated.

A charm bracelet could be the perfect choice, as the unique piece of jewellery can be tailored to our partner's personality by picking the right charms. Moreover among the countless forms and figures, you can find the symbols of love. By choosing these, you can make your gift absolutely romantic.

It may also be a good idea to select the gifts based on a certain theme, for example by colour. Just peek into her wardrobe to find out which tone she prefers this year. Gloves, a wristwatch and purse of matching colour and shade will certainly blow her away, and also testify to your good taste. A useful little gadget such as a pair of trendy wireless in-ear headphones is another simple, yet great gift idea for her. Men are generally more attuned to the newest technological innovations, so you will certainly choose the best model for your partner.

But the safest way to find out what she really wants is to pay attention to her every word, as no woman would miss the chance of dropping a few hints on what is at the top of her wish list.

THE THOUSAND FACES OF RELAXATION

The beauty of reading is that it can transport us into another world at any time, allowing us to immediately forget all the hustle and bustle surrounding us. So if you happen to come across a book that promises to be exciting, don't hesitate to pick it up and immerse yourself in it, driven by the curiosity to uncover the mystery to be solved. Reading is a time-consuming activity, but you will certainly have a few hours between over the holiday season to enjoy a good read.

To fully enjoy the fascinating adventures, creating the ideal setting is essential:

During the Christmas season, you can never know when an expected or unexpected guest will pop in, so wear comfortable clothes for your afternoon read or nap that can also be worn for receiving guests. A soft knitted cotton jumper, comfortable pants and sporty elegant leather shoes may be perfect for the occasion.

Just don't lose your sense of time completely while indulge in your book. Of course this does not mean that you need to set a timer on your phone, but a classic elegant wristwatch with leather straps could come in hand.

And when you have finally made yourself comfortable, to what you need to completely block out the external world. The best device for this is a pair of high-quality wireless headphones. Premium brands offer extremely good noise filtering capability thanks to their fine memory foam padding, so nothing will disturb you during your intense reading.

WHAT MEN WANT?

Every year, our Christmas shopping spree reminds us of the fact that buying presents for men is no easy feat. Planning ahead is therefore highly suggested to avoid the last-minute rush.

The perfect present is something that suits the recipient's personality; while this might sound self-evident, we often tend to choose gifts that suit our taste rather than theirs.

That is not to say that a lot of men wouldn't do well with a bit of fashion guidance, but don't try to change his entire winter wardrobe. A beautiful dark blue V-neck cashmere sweater is not only an exclusive present, but is also enough among fashion items, allowing you to give him many other non-fashion gifts.

If your partner is athletic, sportswear may be the way to go. A pair of sneakers will surely delight him, as brands come out with more cutting edge technologies every year; shoes are now almost entirely seamless, feature breathing materials and give you the impression of floating on a cloud while offering exceptional design.

And don't forget technical toys, every man's favourite. You can easily become lost in this labyrinth if you are unsure of what you're looking for; experimenting is not recommended. Instead, choose a tasteful case to protect his existing expensive device. And if we are already talking toys, don't forget that inside every man there is a child.

Once you have found the perfect gift, take time to wrap it tastefully to make the experience complete for him.

ENCHANTED CHRISTMAS

Christmas for children is the time of joyful longing. They are filled with excitement and anticipation and can hardly wait to find out what's under the tree. This makes it difficult even for a young child to patiently wait for Boxing Day. But the holiday season is a special time of the year, so no matter how excited they are, they must first get dressed for the occasion.

For little girls, a cute patterned dress with a turtleneck and thick stockings is the perfect festive attire. For boys, a light blue men's shirt with a V-neck vest and trousers matching the colour of the shirt but a slightly darker tone is the perfect elegant choice while leaving them enough room for movement. This is important because once they find out that they got exactly what they wanted for Christmas, playtime begins immediately. But which toys are they dreaming of this year?

The new board game from Hasbro can create a truly nostalgic atmosphere, as not one, but two iconic board games have been revamped in the form of Monopoly Gamer. In the Nintendo version, the dog, the hat and the thimble have been replaced by Super Mario, Donkey Kong and Yoshi, along with their superpowers. Say goodbye to boring paper banknotes! In this new version, business is conducted with gold coins.

Every boy's favourite, the remote-controlled car is also a perfect present. The special feature of current models is that they do not require a joystick. Drive them via the Bluetooth connection of your smartphone with the help of a virtual joystick or a movement and speed controller.

As for little girls, their favourite toy, the doll also offers some novelties. For example Elsa, the Princess from the animated film Frozen, will mesmerise every little girl with her wonderful singing. Thanks to her magical powers, we may even have a white Christmas on Boxing Day.

CHRISTMAS TABLE OF WISHES

As the cold winter days set in, what more do we want than the warmth of our home and to finally spend time together? Although there is a lot to do before the holidays, the best part is when the family is together preparing for Christmas. The kitchen is where everyone usually gathers to do their part while making delicacies.

No matter who is in charge of the cooking, the holiday menu will surely be taken very seriously. It is no surprise that one of the highlights of Christmas is the family dinner.

To make sure that everything goes perfectly this year, more than one pair of hands should help out — even if some of the hands are tiny ones.

Help from family members can be useful in preparing the holiday menu, so do not hesitate to involve them, at least in time-consuming work such as peeling, mixing or blending. That said, the head chef should be recognised for his or her work even if they had a bit of help.

Creating a timetable for the planned dishes can come in hand to stay on track and to make sure that you have enough time to prepare every dish. Don't panic if you are a bit behind! A few minutes of waiting will only make the family hungrier.

Perhaps the most important thing is to enjoy the preparations: the sweet smell of Christmas cookies, the enticing taste of perfectly cooked meat, the sensuous aroma of a special bottle of wine and above all, the experience of the whole family enjoying the meal together.

EXTRAORDINARY CHRISTMAS

Decorating our home is one of the highlights and essential elements of the holiday period. Colourful decorations, Christmas lights and winter scents create a unique and cosy atmosphere. For this very reason, don't be afraid of using decorations all over your home, and not only on the Christmas tree, to get into the holiday spirit as soon as possible.

Forget "less is more" — let your motto be "more is more" for a few days during this period. Sparkly holiday decorations can light up any part of your home, even your walls. Creating a wreath using white Christmas lights and putting it on the wall can add a special touch to your home.

Or if you want something fresh this year, forget the traditional Hungarian Christmas candy and go for the American red-and-white striped equivalent, the candy cane. This American sweet is not only delicious, but can easily be hung on your Christmas tree. You can also decorate other parts of your home with it. Hide a few candy canes at different points of your living room and hang some more from your drawers to create little surprises for your children to steal.

Next to this, do not forget the most important element of your holiday decorations: the Christmas tree. If you have not yet decided what type of pine to buy and are tired of finding pine needles in your rooms even after the Twelfth Night, consider an alternative tree. If your home has a large bit of wall, you can build your own tree using branches and hangers.

Once everything is ready, there is nothing else to do but to put the wonderful gifts under the tree for the magical moment of the whole family opening their presents.

MASTERFUL MAKEUP

World-renowned makeup artist Bobbi Brown created her own eponymous exclusive brand of makeup which has become a defining voice in the world of cosmetics.

Bobbi launched her brand with the mission of emphasising rather than concealing women's beauty. She still holds this approach when creating her products and the Bobbi Brown makeup studios also operate according to this ethos.

The other basic pillar of the brand's philosophy is education. Bobbi's mission is to make every woman her own makeup artist. Her studios offer everything from 5-minute lessons to in-depth makeup looks for special occasions.

Here is a super quick look for the days leading up to the holiday:

Start your base in the under eye area: layer concealer along your bottom lashline right into the inner corner of your eye. Use a hydrating foundation to achieve the perfect bare-skin effect. Then apply a light-reflecting powder and a touch of cream blush to add a pop of colour to your skin.

Carefully brush your eyebrows with a matching shade of eyebrow gel and then dab on a neutral eyeshadow in sweeping motions to your eyelids. Complete your look with a natural rosy lip gloss, and off you go to buy your Christmas presents.

For even more beauty tips, ideas and must-have makeup accessories, visit the Bobbi Brown opening soon in MOM Park.

SIGNATURE PRODUCTS

WARMING PAMPERING

A true coffee lover knows that nothing is better on a stormy winter day than sipping our favourite coffee beverage while talking with friends.

Starbucks' winter offering includes our iconic winter favourites. The Gingerbread Latte, made from steamed milk, ginger-infused whipped cream and biscuit pieces is one of the best things that can happen to an espresso — the other is the Toffee Nut Latte. This heavenly coffee specialty features the smell of sweet caramel, the aroma of grilled walnuts and a sprinkle of irresistible toffee nut topping on whipped cream inside the iconic paper cup.

Starbucks is so much more than the carefully crafted holiday coffee beverages. The “one person, one cup and one neighbourhood at a time” mission statement gains significance during the time of the year as the spirit of the holiday that we share worldwide permeates everything.

Yield to the inimitable coffee feeling at Starbucks MOM Park.

CHRISTMAS STORY

The story of Christmas decorations leads to Lauscha, a small town in Germany where a talented craftsman started making apples and walnuts, the traditional holiday decorations at the time, from glass. The tiny fragile figures soon gained popularity in the entire world, and today, the traditional shapes have been complemented by surprising, novel shapes.

The Butlers HANG ON collection proves every year that it is unimitable when it comes to unique and original decorations. There is virtually nothing that we cannot find among the figures reminiscent of the Christmas decorations of the 1970s and 80s. The hand-blown and hand-painted glass decorations can make any tree not only unique, but transform it into something straight out of a Christmas tale. You can tell an entire story with the playful pieces — let your imagination run wild.

The shirt's design was inspired by Renáta Lakatos's dynamic, lineal drawings.

WHERE DESIGN AND CHARITY MEET

INTERVIEW WITH HENRIETTA KOVÁCS,
COLLEAGUE OF AUTISTIC ART

What is the Autistic Art Foundation?

We support 10 residential homes where we take care of young people and adults suffering from severe and moderate autism and offer art therapy in several of our homes. The young people living here receive personalised development, build deep relationship with their peers, and this safe environment provides support for the family.

Why creation is so important for someone living with autism?

Thanks to the art programme, we can get to know the internal world of the young people living with autism, whose values would remain hidden from us without their art. Some of them do not speak at all, but through their drawings the world opens up for them enabling us to also better understand and help them.

What novelties can we expect in the Christmas season?

We are coming out with new products decorated with the artwork of the young people with autism. These items are not only unique gifts, but the person buying them also supports an important social goal: helping young people with autism who are unable to lead independent lives to live a full and dignified life.

"FOR US, THE GREATEST JOY IS THAT THESE YOUNG PEOPLE CAN STAY IN THEIR NATURAL ENVIRONMENT."

OUR GUEST TODAY WAS ALEXANDRA CSUMÁN-LECHNER, HEAD OF FILADELFIA HÁZ

What does Filadelfia Ház do?

Filadelfia Ház is an organisation of the Hungarian Reformed Church's Humanitarian Service. Our main mission is to provide day-care in Budapest for persons living with disability, as parents are often unable to arrange supervision for young people who are not able to take part in the school system.

What kind of programmes do you organise?

As part of day-care we organise individual and group development sessions and also offer experience programmes such as theatre, sports events, camps and in addition that we support the families.

What are you most proud of?

For us, the greatest joy is that these young people can stay in their natural environment with their families while we prepare them for their future supported living.

What are the organization's plans for 2018?

Our dream is to buy special instruments prepared just for them, and we also plan to procure some new development equipment for our special education teachers.

Tímea Farkas, client of Filadelfia Ház

GIFT FOR A LIFETIME

A trip around Southeast Asia is no doubt a gift for a lifetime, so it is an amazing choice for Christmas.

Admire the incessant bustle of the Malaysian capital in Kuala Lumpur from the vertiginous heights of the Petronas Twin Towers and spice up not only your cultural but also your culinary experiences with the multi-coloured heritage of Melaka. And if you want to travel from the historic trading centre straight to the future, go to utopian Singapore.

But Southeast Asia is not only rich in man-made monuments, but also in nature's wonders. When taking a dip in the therapeutic springs of Kinabalu Park, one can feel truly connected to Mother Nature. You can also observe the busy wild life literally from a bird's eyes perspective from the Promenade suspended 14 meters high.

And if in addition to the unforgettable experiences you also want to get a beautiful tan, take a sunbath on the exquisite sandy beaches of Kota Kinabalu.

Book your trip to Malaysia, Singapore and Borneo with Vista Travel Agency located on floor -1 of MOM Park.

ICE, ICE, BABY!

Although not everyone welcomes the arrival of cold weather, some good things are still waiting for us. From mid-November, the favourite ice-skating ring of Budapest, Városligeti Műjégpálya will open its doors to winter sports' lovers. Our visit there will surely be an experience as it is Europe's largest outdoor ice rink.

But ice-skating is not a bad sport either as it nicely combines the development of endurance and coordination.

What is more, thanks to the aerobe activity it can help us stay in shape.

So if we have a free weekend we should definitely not hesitate to put on our ice skates, but first we must try them on.

An uncomfortably tight or loose model would certainly ruin the experience.

When selecting an ice skate we must consider two aspects: one is that it should provide good support for our feet from both sides and the other is that it should offer some room in the front to ensure stability on the ice. Although buckle ice skates provide good side support, but they are less precisely fitting the feet than their laced peers, so we may want to opt for figure skates.

And once we already have them, let's not forget some warm clothing. A technical jacket may be of good service also on the ice.

And the colourful pieces will ensure better visibility.

You will find winter sport's essentials in the Helly Hansen and Hervis stores in MOM Park.

CLOSE-FITTING PIECES

Skinny jeans and leggings are definitely the must-have items of winter season thanks to their close-fitting design, they pair well with either a long jumper or an oversized top. Choosing the right shoes will not be a problem either as these pants can be nicely combined with stylish ankle boots or over-the-knee boots. Thanks to the tight design they fit comfortably even underneath footwear with narrow stems.

But this season not only offers skinny jeans, but also body contouring premium quality pants. The big advantage of these is that thanks to their unique cut and special production technology they perfectly fit every body type. These pieces equipped with push-up effect are also advantageous for the full-figured body types.

Make sure to visit the new Freddy store in MOM Park for the must-have body shaping pants of the season.

IMPECCABLE COURSES

Arugula salad with Gorgonzola with hot smoked duck - with the recommendation of T.G. Piccolino Restaurant

An extravagant salad prepared using a special method may be the perfect hors d'oeuvre on the holiday menu. Slice the warm smoked duck, the main ingredient of the salad, in thin slices and place them on the plate. Toss the arugula sprinkled with raspberry vinaigrette on the duck, then top with some Gorgonzola and red fruits.

Lamb chops - with the recommendation of Paulaner Restaurant

If you want your main course to be a really special one, lamb is a great choice. Thanks to its light yet exciting flavour it does not require any special spices - one or two rosemary branches, garlic, salt and pepper is all it takes. A roast is perfect when juicy and soft while the inside is still slightly rosé. You can garnish the roast chops with grilled tomatoes and arugula.

Orange-chocolate truffle cake - with the recommendation of Angelo Confectionery

Your holiday menu cannot be complete without dessert. And what else could be the perfect closing of a festive dinner than a slice of heavenly chocolate cake! For the base of this cake, prepare a sponge cake with Belgian chocolate then sprinkle it with Cointreau once it is baked. Scoop some creamy mascarpone mousse on the cooled sponge cake then decorated it with candied orange slices and Belgian chocolate flakes.

Ginger Cosmopolitan cocktail - with the recommendation of Leroy Bistro

A toast is the perfect closing of Christmas dinner. To prepare the great classic, the Christmas version of Cosmopolitan, place vodka, fresh ginger, the juice of one lime and cranberry juice in a shaker, then add some ice and shake well. Then pour the double filtered cocktail into pre-cooled Y shaped glasses and serve.

A GLASS OF SURPRISE

Wines are not only essential for the holiday menu but also make a great gift. But selecting the right bottle is something of a challenge, especially if the one we want to surprise is a connoisseur of wines. No matter what you choose, definitely go for a special bottle.

Weninger Róza Petsovits Rosé, an unusual unfiltered Syrah rosé, is an exciting choice. Its taste is thick, creamy, mineral and long — an entirely different dimension of rosé. For it to show its most exciting face, it requires a larger glass and more time. But fortunately there is no shortage of these around Christmas time.

But if you want to offer a truly great surprise, look beyond wine. Thanks to the craft beer revolution, new exciting brews are created each year which could even sway a diehard wine lover.

The Egyptian inspired Anubis beer is certainly a good choice. One of the specialties of this surprising brew is that in addition to malt, it is made with raisins, grape leaves, tobacco honey and saffron. The other specialty is that it is then brewed for five months in the barrels of two winemakers in the famous Tokaj region used for preparing the Tokaji Szamorodni and the noble late harvested wines, resulting in this extraordinary, limited edition beer and the “first Hungarian inter- disciplinary barrel maturation concept”.
